Burning of Cord and Fall of Picture Saves Family from Flames

The burning of a picture cord and the fall of the picture saved the family of Captain W. T. H. Wilson, 572 North Jackson street, from a fire which broke out at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, and probably saved them from a fatal disaster.

The fire burst out in the interior of two downstairs rooms and was prevented from doing further damage by the timely arrival of three fire companies.

It is believed the fire had been smoldering all day Tuesday, for the family selected the seat of smoke before retiring Tuesday night. Later it was found the fire was caused by the picture cord. By 4 o'clock in the morning it had caused considerable damage, making out the inside of the walls and finally breaking through the walls of the dining room.

Upstairs in the Wilson home were Mr. and Mrs. W. T. H. Wilson. The fire was discovered and the house was saved by the timely arrival of three fire companies.

When the fire broke through the wall, a tongue of flame entered the room, setting a large painting hanging just above the stove, the picture fell with a tremendous crash on top of the stove, Mrs. Wilson and other members of the family rushed into the room and finally breaking through the walls of the dining room.

THIS SHOW BEST EVER SAYS CARTER CAR'S HEAD

Mahoney Believes It Will Bring Enough Small Dealers to Pay Expenses

"If you can judge from the beginning, the automobile show this year is going to be the greatest ever," said W. C. Mahoney, southern manager for the Carter company, with a factory branch at 228-248 Peachtree street, between the truck stalls at the show today. "Usually it takes a day or two for things to get started, but already we have some excellent prospects who are in to see the show."

"One of the best features of this year's exhibition is that it draws many small dealers from all through the south. These men come in here to do what they will sell during the coming year. At this big show they can see all of the cars worth while, side by side. It is not as hard to make comparisons and carry the desirable features in mind. Besides, it will require a lot of money for a dealer to go to the factory of all of these companies and see the cars. It is a great money saving for a dealer to come to this show. Dealers in small towns know this, too, and that is why they are coming in to this big show to sign up for the sale of some cars. Not only are there regularly established auto dealers here, but I have talked to a hardware dealer who is going to take on the sale of an automobile also to an implement dealer."

"Of course," continued Mr. Mahoney, "it is not only the number of cars that are sold at retail to Atlanta people during the show, it would never pay to put in all of the money that the automobile show costs. It is this big, widespread interest through the entire south that culminates right here this week, and results in thousands of cars being contracted for. The sale of automobiles is becoming more and more scattered. It is no longer so to the large cities only to buy cars. Some reputable men in each center who have a knowledge of cars, secure agencies, and then they take the cars to the people in the vicinity, and they in turn rely upon him to sell them to a large extent. That is what makes the small dealer, who is a small dealer, I mean the man who sells from three to ten or fifteen cars a year."

"Before the week is out I expect to do business with more than a hundred small dealers. A score have previously written that they would be here and settle the matter during the week, and I know that there are many more who are here to take business."

FINE QUALITIES NEEDED IN TIRES FOR ELECTRICS

Goodrich Manager Says His Compound Meets All Demands of Convention

"The convention of the Electric Vehicle Association at Chicago last week was one of the most satisfactory conventions I have attended," says a letter to Mr. H. A. Pierce, local manager of the E. J. Goodrich Co., written by Mr. S. V. Norton, sales manager of the truck department of the factory at Akron. "It was really up to expectations in every respect."

"Of course," the letter reads, "we are most interested by the discussion of tires for electric vehicles. The need of the electric vehicle, in the way of tire equipment, varies so greatly from the gas car standard, that we listened with intense interest to what the electric vehicle men had to say in this connection. The discussion is complete. Mr. E. Whitney, who spoke on this subject at the convention, based his argument on the fact that the essential features in a tire for electric vehicles, in the order of importance, the following: Efficiency, durability, resiliency, weight and price. We consider it a significant coincidence that Mr. Whitney should have mentioned as the elements making up the ideal tire, the very factors which we have embodied in this new compound for electric motor truck tires. This new compound is one which we have been working upon for some time with a view of developing the most possible tire, to meet the peculiar conditions encountered by the users of electric trucks."

"The reports of work accomplished by the Electric Vehicle association were received with much enthusiasm in the convention and the suggestion that the association had done its work was unanimous. There seemed to be a broadening of the field of usefulness of this presentation and it may certainly be depended upon to seize the opportunity."

The Nine White Hussars, an act of dress and vocal musical comedy, with their mercurial offerings in their white uniforms trimmed in gold, they make an imposing array, and altogether this is an extra added attraction.

Train Tumbles Down High Bank; All Hurt But Nobody's Killed

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 12.—Not one of the twenty-two passengers of a Pere Marquette passenger train escaped injury when the coaches rolled down a fifteen-foot embankment last night near Holland, Mich., but none was fatally hurt.

Two coaches caught fire immediately after the plunge, but those passengers who were unable to help themselves were pulled through broken windows to safety.

Patrons of the Bijou are enjoying the heartiest laugh that they have experienced in many weeks, witnessing Mark Swan's farce comedy, "A Runaway Match," which is being so capably presented this week by the Jewell Kelly stock company. The idea of varying the entertainment from melodramatic farce comedy has evidently struck the popular fancy of Bijou patrons.

50c to 75c Bath Towels at 39c

EVER so often the best mill in America favors us with a small lot of towel "seconds"; towels which, because of a dropped thread or other immaterial "hurt" do not grade up to the mill's high standard. For all practical purposes the towels are as good as new and should find a factory as any you will buy at 50c, 60c or 75c.

Turkish weave, with firm tumbled and twisted threads to insure wear. Soft and absorbent, big and comely enough to rub you dry in a twinkling. Three qualities, all with fancy colored borders. Choice 39c.

Union Linen Towels at Cotton Prices

A scientific blending of cotton and linen; the virtues of linen wedded to the economy of cotton. The combination makes a firm, long wearing towel with soft absorbent qualities. Three sizes at these prices:

Suits Intended to Sell for $13.75 $23.50 Are Now Here at $13.75

A little lot of all-wool cheviot suits that the maker was anxious to clear in order to advance his Spring business. Earlier in the season we would have had to sell these suits at $23.50. Buying them as we did, we can afford to sell them at $13.75.

Made of the fashionable cheviot with cutaway coat and smartly trimmed in the back with self-covered buttons. Satin lined; finished with shields. Black velvet collar. Plain tailored skirt, button trimmed at sides with opening for slit if desired. Black and navy blues.

One of the 3 Best Suits We Have Seen This Season at $16.75 is Pictured

THE other two best suits are also here, though we have not space to show them. $16.75 is not their real price; they are worth more. You can see that at a glance, in the high-grade serge, the careful tailoring, the satin linings and shields.

Choice of three models (one illustrated). A medium cutaway coat has inverted belt in back and velvet button trimmings. Another style has sharply defined cutaway with simulated belt in back, velvet collar and velvet button trimmings. The third style is a cutaway coat with self-covered buttons, belt line in back and button trimmings. Black, navy blues and Copenhagen.

EXPECT 40,000 SHRINERS TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Railroads Promise Low Rates for Visitors to Atlanta
Next May

Co-operation on the part of the railroads of the country in furnishing low passenger rates and otherwise assisting in making the Shriners' convention to be held here next May, the greatest gathering of its kind in the history of the United States, was promised Tuesday evening by representatives of thirty railroads, who met with Forrest Adair, potentate of Yaarsh temple, and Frederic J. Paxson, chairman of the finance committee on arrangements for the convention.

The meeting was held at the Capital City club, and the railroad men agreed with Messrs. Adair and Paxson that the Shriners' convention would bring between 20,000 and 40,000 visitors to Atlanta. Within the next few days the railroads will announce their special rates to Atlanta from all parts of the United States; they will also make arrangements to park all special cars and will prepare various routes, so visitors may come to Atlanta through one section of country and traverse another section on the return trip.

Mr. Adair, discussing some of the arrangements which have already been made for the convention, said: "Ideal arrangements have been made for housing the various parades and bands. A one-story building, 150 feet wide and about 600 feet long, will be built at Ponce de Leon park for the parade and bands. This building will be partitioned off into sections, with ample shower baths.

The skating rink will be converted into a similar structure and used for the same purpose. The theater will be converted into a restaurant.

At Ponce de Leon, 5,000 people will be accommodated, and they will all be made comfortable.

"It will absolutely be the largest body of men ever assembled in any city in the world for one purpose. Already six special trains have been chartered by the temples in California. These temples will come by way of New York from Princeton, traveling twenty-seven states en route. A special train will come from Calgary, Canada. There will be seventy-five bands, one of which will consist of 150 pieces. Albuquerque will bring a band of full-blooded Indians. Deadwood, S. D., will send a patrol of cowboys on horses."

BULLETIN OF CHAMBER SHOWS NEW SKYLINE

The last bulletin of the industrial and statistical bureau of the chamber of commerce is one of the best that has yet been issued. It contains a number of the illustrations showing Atlanta's big buildings and the skyline as it appeared from year to year.

It has some interesting comment on the corn show, the Tallulah Falls development, the plans for the convention house, new train service and other affairs of the moment.

It also has a sketch of Atlanta's progress during the twenty years to date, takes numerous other features that will prove instructive and interesting both to Atlantians and to those out of the city and state.

TEXAS CHAMBER EXPERT TO AID GEORGIA WORK

J. A. Arnold, of Fort Worth, Tex., head of the Texas Commercial Society and vice president, will come to Atlanta Monday to assist the Georgia chamber of commerce in its work of organization.

Mr. Arnold is one of the best known commercial secretaries in the country, and the Texas association is the largest state commercial body in the United States.

Mr. Arnold's visit to Atlanta is being anticipated with much interest, and the state chamber of commerce expects to derive much benefit from it. He will remain in the city a week.

Texas Hires a Special To Reach Houston in Time to Play at King

James H. Jones, multimillionaire of Houston, Tex., rushing to his home city from New York Tuesday, to take part in the "Not So Old" carnival, of which he had been made king, when he passed through Atlanta.

The failure of the train to reach Atlanta in time to connect with the limited for Houston cost the Texas $1,500, which he paid without batting an eyelash.

Had he waited for the regular train, the king of the carnival would have arrived too late to crown the queen, one of Texas' prettiest debutantes.

Of course, the Texas couldn't disappoint a lady, so when the train from New York did arrive in Atlanta, he rushed to the office of Joseph Billings, general passenger agent of the Atlantic and West Point, and started that of a special train, "I want a special train and I want it quick."

Mr. Billings picked up a pencil and after a bit of figuring, announced, "I can get you just $1,500."

Jones, of Texas, was not worried. He began to count out fifty and hundreds of dollars. The required amount was reached.

"I don't mind the money. Get me the train quick," he said.

Thirty minutes later, at 3:30 o'clock, the train pulled out. The king stepped aboard a coach, the only one he had.

The engineer glanced at his orders, which said that all trains were to give him a right of way, and pulled over his throttle.

Jones, of Texas, looked at his roll without being able to tell from its size that it had been touched during the day; smiled contentedly, and knew that unless a wreck got in the way he would be able to place the crown upon the head of his queen on time.

Jones is a bachelor, aged about forty years. Many years ago he went from East Tennessee to Texas to make his fortune. Now he is said to be in control of various enterprises whose combined capital approximate $50,000,000.

Hooper Alexander Tells Credit Men's Association that Atlantians Pay Bills

Good credit is part of the civic pride of the Atlanta business man, according to Hooper Alexander, United States district attorney, who addressed the gathering of the Atlanta Credit Men's association Tuesday night at their dinner at the chamber of commerce building.

R. L. Adams, president of the association, presided, and showed the members a blue print of their new home on the third floor of the chamber of commerce building.

Mr. Alexander said the Atlanta business man took care of his credit above all things, and was known for his business integrity at home and abroad. He also discussed the new tariff and the effect of the currency measure.

Makes Face Young--

Tightens Loose Ties

"Anti-fur" in Woman's Robe.

A perfect complexion, a wrinkle-free face and a radiant smile, do more to give the main beauty than any other commodity. It was one of my greatest difficulties to get my face into the condition that I now have. I have changed my mental attitude and I now feel it second nature to look cheerful. The beauty in this party would be a real treat recommended by a friend, my friends have all improved their faces and their hair.

A simple face lotion made by dissolving an ounce of castor oil in a quart of water, with a pinch of soda, a wonderful wrinkle-remover. I purchased an ounce of castor oil yesterday at my druggist's and before I had taken place, it was like removing an invisible veil from my face. The result was a complexion of distinctive clarity, cheerfulness, and a radiant smile. I would like to add before retiring, washing it off morning. Ten days treatment sufficed.

Play at Grant Field Or Not at All Is Tech's Ultimatum

Play at Grant Field Or Not Play at All, Says Tech to Georgia

Board of Athletic Control at Meeting Tuesday Night Finally Determined the Controversy, so Far as Tech Is Concerned, and Immediately Telegraphed Ultimatum to Authorities at Georgia—Believed That Georgia Will Withdraw Demand to Play at Ponce de Leon. Hardtack Scrimmage of Week by Tech Eleven Tuesday

THE board of athletic control of Georgia Tech at a meeting Tuesday night determined that if the Georgia Tech team is not allowed to play at Grant field, it will not play at all.

Immediately after the meeting the athletic authorities at Georgia were notified of this action by telegram, and it is not anticipated that Georgia will decline to play, since the Georgia-Tech game is the biggest football event of the season for both colleges, and neither would forego the chance of winning a victory.

In declining to play at Ponce de Leon, which the Georgia authorities demanded, the Tech authorities advance numerous arguments in support of their position, and these arguments were set forth at length in The Journal yesterday.

As to seating capacity, they claim that Grant field will accommodate something like 5,500 persons, whereas Ponce de Leon park, excluding the bleachers, will accommodate only 4,000. They claim the bleachers must be extended, because they are unfit for use at a football game, being away off at the end where spectators could see practically nothing of the game.

Further, they claim that all the Grant field seats lie parallel to the side lines of the gridiron, whereas only 1,500 seats at Ponce de Leon are elevated, so that spectators can see above the heads of the privileged ones who are admitted to the side lines, whereas the Ponce de Leon box seats are on a level with the field itself, shutting off the view of the people standing up along the side lines.

As to automobile parking facilities, they claim there is abundant space on three sides of the gridiron at Grant field, whereas cars can be parked on one side of the field only, at Ponce de Leon; while as for simple stalling space, to leave cars, they claim several acres available for this purpose at Grant field, against nothing but the street at Ponce de Leon.

As to the street car facilities, the Tech authorities claim their attendance at all games at Grant field this year has surpassed the attendance at all previous years at Ponce de Leon, thereby proving that the public has no difficulty in getting to Grant field.

As to the neutrality of the grounds, they claim there is no more reason for the Georgia-Tech game to be played on neutral grounds than for the Tech-Auburn or the Tech-Seawater or any other games, which were played this season at Grant field.

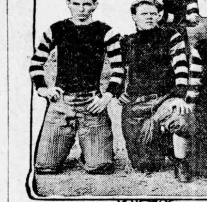

If the Georgia authorities insist on alternating the annual Georgia-Tech game between Grant field at Atlanta and Sanford field in Athens, the Tech authorities will not object, but their opinion is that the attendance would always be larger in Atlanta.

The Tech eleven went through the hardest scrimmage of the week yesterday. Practically every man on the team was in the line-up yesterday, and Lucas announces that he will be back today. These two men have been out because of facility disabilities for several weeks.

Crimson Team Gets Shakeup

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 12.—The Harvard varsity eleven which went through practice in the stadium yesterday. As a result of their observations of the Crimson team in action against Princeton last Saturday, the coaches gave it a shaking up that was almost general. Changes were made in five positions, but only one man was dropped, Cowan, who played left guard, being relegated to the subs.

Georgia Runs Signals On a Moonlit Field For the Jacket Game

Cunningham is Driving His Team to the Limit, First With Hard Scrimmage Against Sub Eleven Using Tech Formations, and Then Signal Practice After the Sun Goes Down, Interest in Big Game at Highest Pitch and Indications Point to Largest Crowd of Students and Athens People That Ever Came to Atlanta

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 12.—Football. Football. Football. It is the whole topic of conversation at the university this week. Never before has a game aroused so much feeling and spirit. The very air seems to be permeated with the spirit of the gridiron. Not only the students are constantly talking of the coming fray on Saturday, but the residents of Athens have caught the spirit and from now everyone talks, Athens will be a veritable "deserted village."

The team realized that it is better to lose to someone else, than to be defeated by a large score does not give 12-0 team too much confidence, for every one knows that the dope goes to the wind when Georgia and Tech lock horns in the annual game. Tech has a good team, in fact, the best team in their history, and Georgia realize it, and they expect the Yellow Jackets to fight to a finish. On the other hand, Georgia has a good team and will fight harder for this game than any other during the season. In fact, if Georgia wins this game she counts her season a success. If not, she counts it a failure.

Yesterday's practice was a stiff one. Cunningham drove his men at a fast clip for an hour and a half, working out the new plays and formations that will be used against Tech. According to the best reports that can be had from the practice field, these new formations and plays are real humorous and the Yellow Jackets will have to sit up and take notice Saturday day when the Red and Black uncorks her repertoire of end runs, forward passes and fakes.

Except for a cold, cutting wind, the weather is ideal for practice. Yesterday the varsity engaged in a hard-fought scrimmage with the scrubs—the scrubs using Tech formations—before the sun went down. The team as a whole is in the best of condition and with another hard scrimmage slated for today, together with two more days of signal work, will be in line-up form by Saturday.

The following was the line-up in yesterday's practice: Conklin, T. C.; Henderson, L. T.; McKinnon, L. J.; Delapierre, C. H.; Loue, F. E.; Turner, T. J.; Smith, F. C.; Padden, C. J.; McWhorter, T. H. B.; Roney, L. H. B.; Crump, F. B.

Coch Cunningham has not yet given out the official line-up for Saturday's contest, but this line-up will probably start off the game. If this should turn out to be the line-up the following men will be used as substitutes.

Thompson, half back; Broyles, full back; Conyers, guard; Thrash, tackle; Logan and Owens, ends; Dorsey and Flournoy, quarter; Sidbury, full back.

Among these substitutes, Thompson, Broyles and Conyers are old men—the rest are new. But these substitutes are just about as good as the regulars in their positions.

The Red and Black game are getting in extra long practices this week because Sanford field is bright enough for real signal work when the moon comes out. Yesterday after the scrimmage was over the team practiced for an hour by moonlight.

Georgia is stopping at nothing, and is leaving no stone unturned in routing the team into shape—the boys are willing workers and run signals till they are exhausted. The slogan is "Georgia must beat Tech." Lookout for the Red and Black next Saturday.

Brisco Lord Takes First Fling at Managerial Job

NEW MOBILE PILOT HAS FINE RECORD BEHIND HIM, BOTH IN SOUTHERN LEAGUE AND WITH CONNIE MACK'S ATHLETICS

BRISCO LORD, Mike Finn's successor at Mobile, is taking his first fling at the managerial game. With the exception of a short time with the Baltimore club and a season with Charlie Frank's New Orleans club, Lord has spent his entire baseball career in the major leagues.

Lord, like many of Connie Mack's players, was brought to Philadelphia without any previous major league experience and quickly developed into a high class outfielder.

Lord is a native of Chester, Pa., and played his first baseball on a team of amateurs in Chester. In 1914 a league of independent clubs was formed which was called the Tri-State league. This league was a so-called outfit organization and many a smallish player found his way to the Tri-State a satisfactory haven after encountering disaster in organized ball.

"Brisco" and his big brother Billy were two of the best players in this league. Billy Lord was an even better player than "Brisco," being a much superior hitter, but carried so much superior avoirdupois that he was passed up by major league managers.

In the spring of 1915 Connie Mack signed up two young players, who had attracted attention in the Tri-State in the vicinity of Philadelphia. These two young boys were Billy and

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

The Grandoldie in the way of post-mortem palyer is an elastic institution, buoyant, virile and lacking little lustre where even reason is detoured.

It is a hardy plant—but it has its limits. And one of these limits consists in peering at a football game through gray sheets of a blinding rain and outlining the whys, wherefores and general status of 22 mud-coated athletes splashing around ankle-deep on a field that would make an average lake look dry and dusty. Football under these conditions isn't a game—but a gamble. And the dope thereof proves anything that you want to believe. Only this, Leure—this and nothing more.

HARVARD-PRINCETON.

The eighteenth clash between Princeton and Harvard has now skidded into mediocrity and Harvard has lifted her count to five victories against thirteen defeats.

But Harvard, even in victory, upset what little dope there happened to be left. We expected to see Harvard come to Princeton with one of the great football machines of the game, and the Tiger fighting a game but hopeless battle from the start. On the other hand we saw nothing of the sort. We saw Harvard come with a great backfield—a great all-around trio—but a team that was great in no other respects. For beyond the brilliancy of Mahan and Brickett, Harvard was outplayed by a team that in place of being doomed from the start, earned at least a draw on general all-around display. Princeton earned victory by shots at Harvard's goal with a wet, heavy, slippery oil to shoot with. Harvard earned four at Princeton bar and under conditions that were bound to produce a raw gamble. Harvard landed the one shot that decided the game.

THE TIGER SURPRISE.

As we suggested before, there was no dope to that battle. It was merely a question of swim, slide, slither, slouch, slip, skid, duck—and then take what was left.

Princeton showed the better line play—a better kicking game—an offener every whit as alert—a machine in general play every whit as powerful.

But Princeton never had a Brickett—and a Brickett—with two eleven evenly matched in most other ways—is generally the ultimate answer.

SHIFT IN THE WATER-LOGGED DOPE.

There was also a double shift in the water-logged dope. Harvard failed to show the machine power she was supposed to have and Princeton showed a good bit more power than she had been given credit. Harvard wasn't as good as people thought she was and Princeton was better. Princeton looked to be a better eleven than the Tiger array of 1912. Harvard's team isn't as dangerous under this game for her line isn't as good as the 1912 Red line, and while Mahan has been added to the offense, the wonderful punting of the mystic Pelton is badly mixed. Mahan is a wonder—a marvel as a broken field runner—but hardly wonderful enough to replace Pelton, Wendell and Parmenter—three very valuable football players who ended their careers last fall.

ON A DRY FIELD.

As for Princeton, well, we'd like to see the Tiger in one big game at least upon a fairly dry field. Against Dartmouth and Harvard, her two big games to date, she hasn't had a chance to show much except her versatility or lack of versatility in water sports. Hope Baker, her greatest single asset—a fast dodging back who depends upon quick starting and a fast track, has been practically useless so far as showing his best form is concerned. All his surprising skill in the department of broken field running has been wiped away by a series of freshets, cloudbursts and drenching rains. All his surprising skill in the department of hand-picked Princeton more than Dartmouth or Harvard—for these had been behind the line that was badly handicapped—but we hope Princeton and Yale meet on a dry plain Saturday, just to see what Princeton's machine really looks like—as a football machine and as an equal confederate. For Princeton, from what she was able to show Saturday, has a far better eleven than she has been given credit for and one that will beat Yale surely on a fast track unless Yale manages to bound forward about 67 per cent.

Lacking the all-around brilliancy of Harvard's backfield trio, there is hardly a spot in the Princeton team that any can call weak. Her forwards, especially Bellin and Phillips, tackle, are very fine; her ends are short; and her backfield is good. She has shown a more consistent attack than Harvard—but one not as likely to become suddenly dangerous, for Princeton has no one who can do about as many things with a power of Brickett and Mahan, who can do about as many things with a football as any pair that ever played.

THE CHAMSON ROUND-UP.

Harvard's line play is only fair; her kicking game is sandy irregular and her general defense nothing to rave about. She has good ends, but they are not classics. But in addition to Hardwick, a most valuable person in many ways, Harvard has two people who lift her well above the mass in this new game. She has in Mahan the most dangerous broken field runner of the year—and in Brickett the most consistent scorer from the side of many years. Against any well-trained, alert defense it is almost impossible to score from the 20-yard line, but Mahan is likely to score from much further away—and if he doesn't, Harvard's offense is stumped around the 20-yard zone, nothing but a feat of airship can curb the irrepressible victory. He only pumped one over Saturday, but he was kicking a heavy, slippery, mud-covered, lopsided, missile from the depths of a young lake.

In the meanwhile, Princeton can take great cheer from her Harvard showing and know that Yale must improve abnormally to beat her back. We know not how Princeton has a first-class football machine—a well-rounded one in every way. While Yale has yet to show that she has anything at all against a team of rank. But this doesn't necessarily mean that Yale won't show anything on Saturday. She has emerged from these slumps before in time to rise up and sandbag the astonished Tiger.

Quandary Over Players' Frat

Minor Magnates Have Not Decided Upon Action—Attendance Cut Down by Storm

(By Associated Press.)

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 12.—What action will be taken by the convention of the National Association of Baseball Players on the demands of the Players' Fraternal Union, was a matter of conjecture here this morning. Some magnates who attended the opening session of the convention yesterday thought the demands would be referred to a committee if they made their appearance on the floor of the convention, while others believed the demands would not be presented.

Twenty-four leagues out of forty-three holding membership in the association were represented at today's meeting. When delegates assembled at Cleveland arrive it is thought that thirty baseball organizations will be credited with voting power. The convention will begin actual work this morning.

Governor Cox, of Ohio, and Governor Hoover, of Tennessee, were the center figures at the afternoon session. Ohio's executive welcomed the delegates to Ohio and Tennessee's governor reminded them of the state's position in the convention. President H. H. Sinton, of the National Association, presided.

Secretary Farrell's roll called showed one more delegate present from the following leagues:

Association, International, Pacific Coast Western, Southern, Texas, Central, New England, New York State, Three I, Northwestern, South Atlantic, Virginia, Wisconsin-Illinois, Southern, Michigan, Central, Ohio State, Illinois-Missouri, North Carolina, Michigan, E. C. T., Nebraska State, New York-New Jersey, California State.

Sessions of the national board, which were commenced this morning after the arrival of the delegates, will be held by Tuesday night. Manager Moran, of the Pacific Coast league team, tonight completed a deal for pitcher Collette, of the St. Joseph Western league team.

President Barrow and several club owners of the International league tonight discussed informally with American association magnates the proposed plan for the proposed for all teams of the two leagues to play post-season games next year. It is said that the plan probably will be given a test.

John H. Farrell, secretary-treasurer of the National Association, tonight announced these decisions of the national board of arbitration:

Claim of Player Basker against Montgomery, two days' salary, allowed. Claim of Player Walters against Player Foster, allowed.

Claim of Player Ferguson against Player Moulton, allowed. Twenty-four additional claims were offered to the secretary for settlement. The association resumed work at 10 p.m. this morning. The day is expected to be taken up largely with committee reports.

Smith Buys an Outer Gardener

(By Associated Press.)

OUTFINDER Flanagan, of the Detroit team, Three I league, who has a hitting average of .352, has been purchased by Billy Smith for a tryout with the Crickets next spring, according to a telegram received Wednesday by Major Frank E. Callaway, president of the local club.

Flanagan was a good record. His four runs in 131 games, was at bat 511 times, made 130 hits, scored ninety-four runs, had a total of 241 bases and twenty-four stolen bases. In fielding Flanagan possesses almost as good record as his brilliant one with the bat. He made five errors, seven assists and only eight errors, for a fielding percentage of .966.

U. S. Bowlers to Compete at Berlin

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—In an effort to carry off the German championship team of American bowlers will compete in the national tournament in Berlin next summer, according to an announcement by the United Bowling club of New York. Fifty members of a local organization will comprise the team. Joseph Tamm, president of the club, said the team will be ready to start in the last eight years, will head the party.

The trip will be the fourth of the American bowlers across the Atlantic in search of foreign honors. The trip, in 1908, was a success in every way.

ANDREWS IS NOT AFRAID OF LOSING KID ELBERFELD

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Oliver B. Andrews, president of the Chattanooga club, says all the trouble between Owner Summers and President Frank of the Pelicans over Kid Elberfeld playing for New Orleans under a fat contract is as so much spittle.

Andrews says the kid is not going to leave Chattanooga, why worry. Frank is saying little, but there is not the slightest doubt that he is still counting on Elberfeld as his first lieutenant next season, regardless of what Summers may say or do, or of the confidence of the Chattanooga club chief that Elberfeld is still owned by the Lookouts.

The deal by which Elberfeld may become a Pelican is likely to remain in statu quo until the season begins next at Atlanta in December. Frank will let the kid know he is still counting on Elberfeld. The trio should be able to settle it among themselves.

The only question involved is whether Elberfeld is a free agent. If he is he can sign with Frank and Andrews can't make a move to prevent the switch. If Elberfeld is still the property of the Chattanooga club Frank has no right to sell him to New Orleans, a proposition, and he can get himself into a hole by doing so. Frank knows baseball rules.

too well to make a stupid blunder like this, and he has appeared confident all along that Elberfeld was his.

If it should turn out that Elberfeld cannot sign a New Orleans contract, Frank's failure to hand the scrapping infielder may be a blunder in disguise, for the move to sign the kid has been the chief bone of contention between Frank and the man who owns controlling interest in the club.

Frank's reason for employing Elberfeld is plain. He needs one good infielder and one good outfielder to round out his team. Elberfeld is a good infielder, probably the best in the league, his experience and aggressiveness fit him admirably as field leader, and a good field leader is what Frank needs as much as any one thing.

Elberfeld's own viewpoint may have something to do with the settlement of the contention between Frank and Andrews. If the kid wants to leave the Chattanooga club, he has been reported, Andrews will probably not want to keep him, but if Andrews has strings on him there is not much chance for Frank to get him, for the Pelicans could hardly afford to buy the kid outright and then pay him the fat salary he would command.

Willard-Morris Bout May Not Take Place
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Jesse Willard, the Nebraska heavyweight, and Carl Morris, of Oklahoma, will probably have to cancel the bout for which they were matched to appear here December 2. The State Athletic commission has ruled against Willard's appearance here until he has been cleared by the State Athletic commission, which has a buffalo club, Jan. 1, 1914.

Friends of the Finnish champion maintained that no violation of amateur laws, while members of the committee are equally positive they have evidence that he was a professional since coming to America.

A Vanderbilt supporter queried: "There would Alex Cunningham get another football team if Bob McWhorter were injured?"

Golf Tourney Nears Finals

W. L. Halstead to Play Winner of Gray-Clarke Match for Newspaper Trophy

The tournament of newspaper men on the East Lake golf course is nearing the finals, with W. L. Halstead already there awaiting an opponent from the match between Innis Gray and Francis Clarke. This match will be played Wednesday afternoon, and the winner must meet Mr. Halstead by Saturday night. In the second night the play has progressed to the semifinals only. W. L. Halstead is the favorite to win.

Tigers Work Yale's System

(By Associated Press.)
PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12.—The Princeton variety stood off the new scrubs eleven, using Yale's plays for five minutes, Tuesday afternoon in a dramatic test against Yale formations.

Later the variety carried the ball for ten minutes, but failed to penetrate the scrubs line for a score. It was the variety's first experience with a mixture of Yale plays.

W. Paraworth must play W. B. Seabrook, and the winner is to meet Kenta a speed. In this same round Clark McMichael will play W. H. Brundage by Wednesday afternoon.

By reaching the finals in the first night Mr. Halstead has already won a cup, for he should be defeated in the finale, he comes in for the cup offered for the runner up.

"The Telephone, Again, Mr. Brown"

How many times a day are Brown and Smith and Jones of your office called away from their desks to answer the telephone or to put through an urgent call? They appreciate the loss of time and efficiency which result from these lengthy interruptions.

Why don't YOU provide the remedy?

An extension telephone on your assistant's or your bookkeeper's desk, or on both, at a cost of a few cents a week, will work wondrous savings for you as it has for thousands of others.

Extra Wear—and Solid Comfort

Dr. A. Read Cushion Shoes give you better service than any shoe you can buy. Not because they are made of better materials than most good shoes, but because the soft, fibre, cushion inside absorbs the jar and lessens the grinding of the sole and heel on hard walks and rough pavements. With the added wear you also get absolute foot comfort.

It's a money-saving, ache-saving shoe—Come in and look at the many styles.
